Re: L & Leung Leatherware Limited v. Collection XIIX Ltd. and Lisa Nunziata,
No. 1:17-cv-07374-DAB

Dear Judge Batts:

We represent defendant/third-party plaintiff Lisa Nunziata and defendant/counterclaim plaintiff Collection XIIX Ltd. in the above-referenced action. We write on behalf of all counsel to request the Court's approval of a 60-day extension of the discovery end-date and other pre-trial deadlines set forth in the Court's scheduling order dated April 12, 2018 (ECF Doc. 30). GRANTED
/s DAB
9/4/2018

No prior requests for an extension of discovery have been made by the parties. The parties have worked cooperatively to address any discovery issues that have arisen. Nevertheless, technical and other impediments to electronic discovery have delayed the completion of document discovery. Further, the parties are still in the process of reviewing the voluminous documents produced to date prior to taking the several depositions noticed by each side.

In light of the unforeseen delays the parties have encountered in document discovery, and the scheduling issues posed first by the parties' business obligations and, upcoming, by the loss of much of September to the Jewish holidays (September 10 through October 2)—all of which have required postponing depositions without date—completion of discovery by the September 28, 2018 deadline fixed by the scheduling order is not feasible.

Further, we note that absent the deposition of plaintiff L & Leung Leatherware Limited ("L & Leung"), a Hong Kong corporation, wherein defendants intend to inquire about L & Leung's business activities in New York at the time of commencement of the action, defendants are not prepared to challenge plaintiff's jurisdiction, or inform the Court that jurisdiction is not an issue under New York Business Corporation Law Section 1312. Your Honor's order of yesterday (ECF Doc. 31) requires defendants to take such action on or before September 13, 2018.

The parties thus respectfully request that, in addition to amendment to the scheduling order to provide a 60-day extension, the deadline for any motion by defendants challenging plaintiff's jurisdiction be extended to 10 days following the completion of the Rule 30(b)(6) deposition of L & Leung, and in no event later than November 16, 2018.

GRANTED

We thank the Court for its courtesies in this matter.

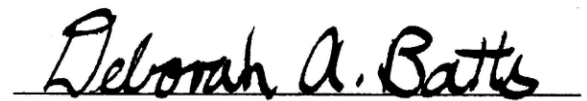

Respectfully yours,

David A. Stein
